As we wait for things to become realities and to materialize, it is easy to become accustomed to the miracle.
Let us not then close our eyes to the mundane but rather, greet these events with childlike excitement and applaud their simplicity.

As we progress through the seasons of our life we must look toward the future, cherishing memories we have left behind.
This book is a collection of some of these memories. Throughout the past sixteen seasons we have formed many strong bonds. The dawn of our life is now over and we must remember that all of our dreams are yet before us.

"As daily now man conquers time and space,
And ways of stars and moon grow commonplace,
Let us not lose from sated eyes
The gift of wonder there- the glad surprise."

It's nice to be important,
To stand out above the crowd;
It's nice to feel you've earned the right
To hold your head up proud.
It's nice to feel important,
To be sought out for advice-But important people know It's more important to be nice

-Helen Lowrie Marshall

In appreciation of your genuine affection and continuous concern for our class, we dedicate this, the 1996 Journal, to you.

We love you

Mother Nature's preparing for one last fling,

A wonderful masquerade ball!

Each tree is determined to win the prize

For the handsomest costume of all.

The aspen's a princess in golden lace.

A beautiful, shimmering sight;

The maple, resplendent in crimson cape.

Her gallant and dashing knight.

The sumac in feathery Indian plumes

Of yellow and red and brown.

Are crouched on the hills like tawny braves

Surrounding the sleepy town

Mother Nature is planning a masquerade.

One final and glorious fling, Then she'll settle down under her blanket of snow

And doze, content, until Spring.

A Page In The Diary of the Spirit of Taunton High

... returned to my old haunts today and noted many changes at T.H.S. ... wonderful conveniences for students everywhere ... large parking lot equipped with uniformed attendants ... provision being made for erection of steamheated garages for winter use ... welcoming committee cordially greeting students at the door ... two water coolers in each classroom ... ice cubes, free ... girls' room equipped with wall to wall deep pile carpeting ... dressing tables lining the wall with seats upholstered in cream colored leather ... huge mirrors everywhere ... blush pink walls ... uniformed matrons always ready with fresh fluffy towels ... emergency room with all modern medicinal staples including aspirin and alka-seltzer ... students bright-eyed, happy, wide awake, and eager (at recess) ... excellent service from waiters and waitresses in lunchroom ... wonderful lunch--delicious lobster salad garnished with avocado and served with piping hot rolls ... three dimensional murals covering walls ... four coke machines on each floor ... elevators run by uniformed attendants ... chromeplated escalators ... clean soft brushes supplied fresh each week to the aspiring Van Gogh's of S310 ... moisture controlled, dust-free air supplied at all times by air conditioning unit--temperature accurate within one seven hundredth of a degree ... Everything seems different--and yet ... I wonder. Strangely familiar things are seen and heard all through the corridors ... the same "Eu, eu, eu," coming from C312 ... S116 sporting the same ominous odors ... students in B212 chanting blithely, "Arma virumque cano" ... from B312 the echoing "buenos dias" ... delicious smells of almost perfect gingerbread emanating from A104 ... everywhere a small percentage of students observed with their heads on their desks, obviously in the arms of Morpheus (the god of sleep) ... seniors conspicuous because of the 117.25 inch diameter of their heads, which are filled with apprehensions over college acceptance ... freshmen eagerly inquiring about the fourth floor and the pink elevator leading to it ... Yes, I guess it's still the same place. It seems that human nature of high school pupils and faculty--the world over--will never change ... I hope!

Inspired by the 1955 Journal

I cannot teach you, though the years Have led me farther on Along the path of life than you
In your short span have gone.

I can but lead you to the threshold
Of your thinking mind,
And leave you there to search the worth Of such as you may find.

I can but point the way, then you Must trudge your road alone;
The crossroads you will meet will not be Those that I have known.

I cannot teach you, I can only Take you by the hand
And lead you to the point where you Can see the promised land.

The rest of it is up to you,
The choice is yours to make-
And I can only pray that 'tis The right road you will take.

-Helen Lowrie Marshall

Staff

Congratulations on achieving one of your many goals in life. Your hard work and diligence has earned you the respect of both the staff and your peers. It is our collective belief that you are magic in the making. Thank you for teaching us to dream.

Mr. Patrick F. Jackman, Headmaster

Receiving a high school diploma is a significant benchmark in each person's life and serves as a key to the gateway into the future. Some of you will continue your formal education at an institution of higher learning and others will join the armed forces and seek advanced training while in the service of our country. Some of you will leave Taunton in order to realize a goal while others will remain in our community, find employment and fulfill their dreams in familiar surroundings. The Taunton High School community celebrates your achievement and wishes you continued success in all your future endeavors. I am pleased to have had the opportunity to share the past four years with you and extend my best wishes to all the members of the Taunton High School Class of 1996.

A Shaft of sunlight breaking through Can make the whole world shining new.
Can shap tomorrow,
change a life,
Can banish doubt and fear and strife.

One shaft of sunlight through the grey—One word of cheer that we may say,
Could carry farflung consequence,
And might make all the difference.

Remember Me

To the living, I am gone.
To the sorrowful, I will never return.
To the angry, I was cheated.
But to the happy, I am at peace.
And to the faithful, I have never left.
I cannot speak, but I can listen.
I cannot be seen, but I can be heard.
So as you stand upon a shore,
Gazing at a beautiful sea
Remember me.

As you look in awe at a mighty Forest and its grand majesty-Remember me.
Remember me in your heart,
Your thoughts, and your memories
Of the times we cried,
The times we thought, the times we laughed.
For if you always think of me,
I will have never gone.

Acknowledgments

The editors of the 1996 Journal would like to thank all of those who dedicated themselves to this publication.

Mrs. Janet McConville for her trust and devotion. It has been a pleasure working with such a magnificent advisor

Mr. Donald McKinnon for his expertise and patience working with a new business editor

Mr. Gary Walters for all his help and for bringing us laughter in publications after everyone else had gone Steph Flint and Ryan Amaro for their long hours and painstaking work, and Sue Rodrigues and Jenn Traverse for all their help. Thanks for being our only staff!

Terrence Curran and Mary Letourneau, our photographers, for their patience and hard work

English Teachers for allowing us to distribute and collect materials in their classrooms

Seniors who submitted their candids

Mr. Higgins and Mr. Pfeil for their photos and all their help

Ms. O'Brien and Mrs. Wallis for all their photos and their help and for being wonderful class advisors

The Office Staff for their cheerful and prompt cooperation

Mrs. Pawlowski for being a whiz at the copy machine

Our teachers who were so understanding and helpful

Without you we could not have produced the 1996 Journal. We are forever grateful.

Aim for a star! Never be satisfied With a life that is less than the best, Failure lies only in not having tried — In keeping the soul suppressed.

Aim for a star! Look up and away,
And follow its beckoning beam.
Make each Tomorrow a better Today —
And don't be afraid to dream.

Aim for a star, and keep your sights high!
With a heartful of faith within,
Your feet on the ground, and your eyes on the sky,
Some day you are bound to win!

— Helen Lowrie Marshall
